Rome (LIRF): 7.5% of rows, 32.2% of the squared error

The hybrid blend and the hard four-hour rule are patching a recording artifact

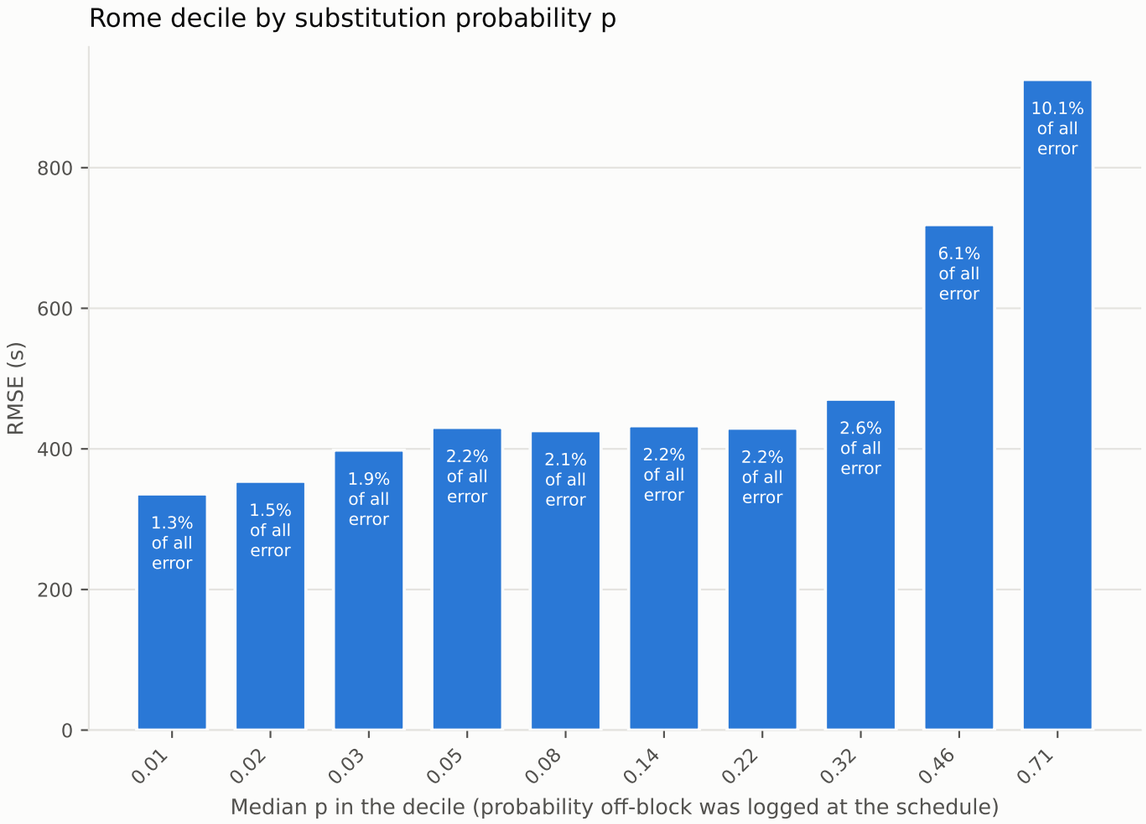

Rome: the label is often the schedule gap, not a taxi time

The 147 rows the four-hour rule rescues

Rome decile by substitution probability p

Rome rows split by how the label was recorded

